

Dear Mrs Stevens,

Here is the document you insisted I print out, sign by hand, and then scan. Unfortunately I don't own a printer, scanner, pen or paper, but I managed to find a solution nonetheless.

Please note that over 900,000,000 trees are cut down and $827,000 Billion in man hours* wasted every year due to unnecessary office printing and scanning.

I think you'll find everything is in order and if you need me to sign anything else, I will be able to do so quickly and efficiently.

Yours Sincerely,
